Russians In 7 Miles Of Budapest

Government Reported In Flight From Hungarian Capital

LONDON, Saturday, Nov. 4.—(UP)—Moscow announced last night that Russian tanks and infantry were within seven miles of panic-swept Budapest and radio Budapest said that Soviet armored units had entered the Hungarian capital's southern suburbs but had been thrown back.

The broadcast from the imperiled Axis capital was heard in Stockholm a few hours after the Soviet high command revealed that Russian troops had advanced 15 miles through the shattered outer defenses.

With the city of 1,115,000 persons reportedly in the throes of an anti-Nazi revolt, Moscow revealed that the Russians were within easy artillery range and it was probable Soviet big guns already were shelling the eighth European capital to be assaulted by the Red Army.

CITY'S FALL EXPECTED

Some London observers believed the city, or at least the section of it on the east bank of the Danube, might fall during the weekend although the military line-up was almost identical to the first Red Army thrust to Warsaw—still in German hands.

Moscow reports said the enemy was falling back in disorder to the city's outskirts and that the disorganized German and Hungarian troops were being mercilessly pounded by Red Army dive-bombers sweeping up to and over the capital's southeastern suburbs. The Red Army was only five miles from the big suburb of Soroksar.

Dispatches said that Don and Kuban Cossacks were charging well ahead of the main forces, forcing gaps in the hastily erected breastworks thrown up before the capital by the forcibly mobilized civilian population.

The Budapest radio broadcast "last stand" appeals to the fleeing population as British press dispatches from Moscow said serious disturbances, looting and revolt had broken out in the Hungarian city and the pro-Nazi government of Francis Szalasi was reported in flight.

INEXORABLE ADVANCE

Nowhere did it seem that the Germans and Hungarians were able to halt the inexorable Russian advance, and, although the enemy threw in all available reserves, more than 100 towns and settlements were seized as the Red army thrust toward Budapest across the marshy plains between the Danube and Tisza rivers.

Driving to within sight and artillery range of Pest, eastern half of the sprawling city, divided by the Danube river, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukrainian Army approached to within seven miles of the city by capturing the village of Alsonemedi, due south.

Alsonemedi was taken in the 15-mile advance between the Belgrade-Budapest railroad and highway through the village of Bugyi, 13 miles south of Budapest. Sweeping west and north of an extensive lake and marsh region, these spearheads, striking from the rail station of Domsod, reached the Belgrade-Budapest highway.

At the same time, other spearheads drove up the highway and a secondary railroad, advancing as much as 12 miles to link with columns at Alsonemedi. In their advance, the Russians captured, among others, the road and rail junction of Orkeny, 24 miles southeast of Budapest; Alsodabas, Gyon and Ujhartyon, 19 miles southeast; Sari, 16 miles southeast, and the rail station of Inarcskakucs, 14 miles southeast.

The Germans transferred infantry, artillery and tanks from other front sectors to the area of Budapest, hurled in rear area garrisons and attempted several counterattacks along the Belgrade-Budapest highway, but all were thrown back, Moscow's war bulletins said.

NAVY'S LEADING FIGHTER ACE—Cmdr. David McCampbell, of Los Angeles, who recently shot down nine Jap planes in one flight over the Philippines, sits in his plane marked with 30 Jap flags, symbols of his enemy kills which made him the Navy's leading fighter ace.

Hodges Pushes 2 Miles; Nazis Scent Offensive

LONDON, Nov. 3.—(AP)—A U. S. First Army drive rolling out of the forests southeast of Aachen smashed two miles deeper into Germany today and enemy broadcasts declared a grand American offensive soon might explode along a restless 30-mile front.

German accounts said only two regiments so far had been committed to the push, which swept through the village of Schmidt, two miles beyond fallen Vossenack and 15 miles southeast of Aachen, but added that powerful forces were massed behind them ready to strike.

The final shots were being fired to clear the approaches to the port of Antwerp and keep such an offensive supplied, as Vlissingen (Flushing) fell and most of the rest of Walcheren island with its blockading big guns was overrun.

The enemy was falling back before British and Americans in eastern Holland, apparently to positions which would be less exposed by such an offensive, and was giving ground grudgingly in western Holland as Allied infantry threw three bridgeheads across the Mark river, some five to six miles south of the water barrier of the Maas.

500-MILE FRONT SEETHES

The pressure was on all along the 500-mile Allied front, with the U. S. Seventh and the French First Army grinding out five-mile gains in two days which overran a half dozen villages and carried to within six miles of St. Die, commanding one of the passes through the Vosges mountains to the Rhine. Local gains were scored on the U. S. Third Army front.

Driving through pillboxes and barbed wire entanglements, the doughboys who seized Schmidt 28 miles west of the Rhine took high ground commanding the small Roer river, but the Germans were dug in strongly across the stream and were well armed with artillery and mortars.

A front dispatch said hundreds of prisoners, many young or physically unfit of the type usually left to man outposts, were taken.

A German high command spokesmen said the Americans were jabbing at Field Marshal Gen. Karl Rudolf Gerd von Runstedt's lines all the way north to Waldenrath, 30 miles from the focal point of fighting.

"A major action on the part of the American First Army seems to be impending," Berlin said, adding that the various local thrusts "can be interpreted as forerunners of the forthcoming offensive."

Four miles north of Schmidt, hot artillery and mortar fire kept other elements of Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First Army out of the town of Hurtgen, which was reached in the opening phases of the assault yesterday.

The plight of the German garrison on Walcheren island was growing more desperate as the Allies who liberated Vlissingen neared a junction with other forces which seized the strongpoints of Domberg, nine miles northwest, and Westkapelle and cleared the west coast for a distance of more than nine miles.

At last reports these two forces, which took 600 prisoners during the day, were less than two miles apart.

Possibly all the guns that can harass shipping in the Schelde estuary approaches to Antwerp already have been silenced, and mine sweepers may soon go to work to clear the channel.

The core of German resistance was in eastern Walcheren, where the Germans fought back fiercely before the causeway bridgehead from South Beveland island to the east.

CANADIANS EXPAND

But even here the Canadians expanded their foothold, while British reinforcements made a new landing two miles south. Troops were locked in desperate fighting waist deep in water and mud.

The Germans declared the village of Arnemiuden, one mile west of the bridgehead, an open city because their wounded are hospitalized there, and supreme headquarters agreed to respect it.

It was disclosed that Canadians had cleared the two Dutch islands of North Beveland and Tholen, to the north, and had taken 250 captives.

Roosevelt To Sprinkle Kind Words On Massachusetts and Connecticut

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(AP)—President Roosevelt drove his fourth-term campaign tonight toward a strenuous, four-speech finale in New England.

All day long tomorrow he will backtrack over familiar political trails in Connecticut and Massachusetts. Topping the busiest day of his personal electioneering efforts will be his sixth and final major political address tomorrow night in Boston.

Mr. Roosevelt declined to answer a news conference inquiry today of "How do you think the campaign is going?" He ruled the question out as one that would require an opinion. But he slammed away again at what he has termed opposition "whisperings and rumorings." And, with a prayer for good weather he outlined this itinerary for tomorrow:

A midmorning stop at Bridgeport, Conn., to say—as he put it—a few kind words from the rear platform of his special train.

A noon appearance at a park amid the insurance buildings of Hartford, Conn., to dispense more kind words. He may take this occasion, he said, to tell his audience that four and eight years ago, and again this year, there were predictions that insurance policies would be no good if he were re-elected.

An early afternoon stop at Springfield, Mass., for a short talk, and another at Worcester later on to take Sen. David I. Walsh, of Massachusetts, aboard the campaign train.

The big speech is in Boston tomorrow night (8 p. m., Atlanta time)—only three days behind a Boston address of Republican Nominee Thomas E. Dewey.

That winds up the chief executive's campaigning for national support. Monday, however, he makes a customary tour among Hudson valley homefolks and an election eve "thank you" talk by radio to his backers.

Twice in response to news conference questions today, Mr. Roosevelt referred back to last night's speech in which he warned against "hysterical, last-minute accusations or sensational revelations . . . trumped up in an attempt to panic the people on election day."

He was asked to comment on:

A statement by Rep. Judd, Republican, Minnesota, that Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, as an agent of the White House, had delivered an ultimatum to the Chinese demanding that he be made commander of all their armies.

Reports that Secretary of State Hull might resign and that Vice President Wallace would be appointed in his place.

Probably those were the kind of things he and National Democratic Chairman Robert E. Hannegan talked about last night, Mr. Roosevelt remarked.

Hannegan said in a radio address that the Republican campaign was based on "hate."

Asked whether the veteran Sen. Carter Glass, of Virginia, was supporting a fourth term, the President said the reporters had better ask Jimmie Byrnes. War Mobilization Director Byrnes made a fourth-term speech Monday.

Several hours after the President's news conference, Secretary Early informed reporters that he had just had a telephone call from Glass at his Mayflower hotel apartment and that the senator confirmed that he would vote for the fourth term.

B-29's Rock Rangoon With Heaviest Load

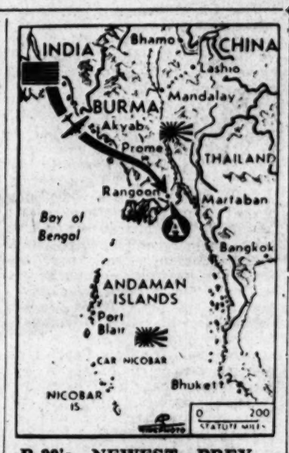

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Superfortresses carrying record-shattering bomb loads and for the first time working in a mission with smaller bombers, hit the Japanese in Burma today with results described as good.

The giant planes, which usually operate from bases in China, took off from India on what for the B-29s was a short haul to Rangoon—perhaps no more than 700 or 800 miles. The Superfortresses, a 20th Bomber Command communique said, "carried the largest bomb load per aircraft so far known to have been lifted in aerial warfare."

The heaviest bomb loads so far reported are for the British four-engined Lancaster, a plane comparable in size with the American B-17 and B-24. The Lancaster can lift more than eight tons.

The communique said there were no losses of B-29s on this mission "as a result of enemy action." The attack was in daylight.

The "substantial force" of Superfortresses made the strike in coordination with units of the Far Eastern Air Command, the communique said. That command includes the 10th Air Force based in India, indicating that bombers of the Flying Fortress or Liberator types may have gone along on the mission. The target for today was the big railroad yards at Rangoon.

B-29's NEWEST PREY—India-based Superfortresses with record bomb loads have attacked railroad yards at Rangoon in Burma.

Gen. Leese Transferred To Asia

Eighth's Boss To Head Newly-Organized 11th Army Group

LONDON, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Sir Oliver W. H. Leese tonight was appointed commander of the newly organized 11th Army Group which includes some American troops formerly commanded by Gen. Stilwell and will operate in southeast Asia under the direction of Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten.

Leese has headed the British Eighth Army in Italy since January 5.

A group contains more than one army, but the only part of the 11th Group so far identified publicly is the British 14th Army, now operating in Burma.

The American and Chinese forces in northern Burma, who were directed by Gen. Stilwell prior to his recall to Washington, are a part of the 14th Army and, therefore, will be under Leese's over-all generalship.

Leese's appointment is the strongest indication to date of a build-up in Mountbatten's ground forces.

Lord Louis' southeast Asia command includes Ceylon, Burma, Thailand, Malaya and part of Sumatra. It does not include French Indo-China, or China.

Lt. Gen. Sir Richard L. McCreery, 46, was appointed Leese's successor as Eighth Army commander.

Tall, lean, fit and 49, Leese directed the swift, secret transfer of Eighth Army divisions in the spring from the Adriatic side of Italy to the western slopes of the Apennines to reinforce the Fifth Army in the breakthrough to Rome. A strict disciplinarian, Leese is among the youngest of the higher commanders in the British army. He succeeds Gen. Sir George Giffard in the 11th Group post.

McCreery, a cavalryman whose regiment was one of the first to be mechanized, started this war as a colonel, fought through the first battle of France and earned the DSO.

He became chief of the general staff to Gen. Sir Harold Alexander before the battle of El Alamein, and planned campaigns which broke the German and the Italian armies in Egypt, the western desert, Tunisia and Sicily. On the eve of the landing in Italy, he took over the 10th Corps, which post he held before his Eighth Army appointment.

24 Detroit Plants Closed by Strikes

DETROIT, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Strikes by mechanics closing 24 Detroit war plants today brought from Undersecretary of War Patterson a statement that they were "striking our fighting men from the rear" and that "such conduct is equivalent to treason."

Patterson's demand that the strikes be halted at once was made in a telegram to Matthew Smith, national secretary of the Mechanics Educational Society of America, an independent union.

MESA leaders claimed the union's entire membership of nearly 20,000 in this area walked off their jobs at 10 a. m. in sympathy with the union's jurisdictional dispute with the United Automobile Workers (CIO) in the Toledo plant of the Electric Auto-Lite Company. However, some spokesmen of companies involved and officials of government agencies placed the total idle at 7,000 to 11,000.

Give Workers Time To Vote, FDR Urges

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(UP) President Roosevelt today called on all employers to allow their workers enough time off to vote in Tuesday's election and requested that any employe who is not allowed enough time "inform me of the circumstances together with the name of his company and any pertinent facts."

Emphasizing that the mandate of this election "should be as representative of the whole people as possible, irrespective of whom they vote for," Mr. Roosevelt said in a statement:

"There has been much interest in the subject of soldier voting. I am sure that there is an equal interest in facilitating the vote of civilian workers, regardless of their choice. This point of view seems to be essentially American."

Mr. Roosevelt said that certain companies with government contracts had raised the question whether pay to their workers will be allowed by procurement agencies as reimburseable costs if election day time off is granted.

"The agencies have ruled that such payments are legitimate expenditures under cost-plus contracts; that they may be considered for the purpose of making any computation or adjustment required by the provisions of fixed-priced contracts, and that they may also be appropriately allowed as such expenditures in recognition of lump sum contracts," he said.

He said that under the circumstance "all firms having contracts with the government are especially urged to allow their workers—who have done so much to help win this war—to have full opportunity to express their choice in this election, whatever that choice may be."

Foe In Desperate Comeback Effort

By THE UNITED PRESS.

Japanese troops and tanks landed on the west coast of Leyte during the night from four big merchantmen, opened a desperate bid today to break the Ormoc pocket, and a showdown battle was believed imminent, according to reports from Allied headquarters in the Philippines.

Protected by fighter planes, the Japanese convoy managed to reach Ormoc, the big Leyte west coast port, under cover of darkness. Gen. MacArthur's fighter planes broke through the enemy aerial cordon and sank two of the transports, but not before the enemy troops had landed.

Hastily organizing, the Japanese reinforcements started a forced march northward along the Ormoc-Pinamopoan main highway in a column several miles long.

Again MacArthur's planes swept to the attack. Striking from almost head-level altitude, they knocked out 30 Japanese trucks and two tanks and killed many enemy troops. The column was forced to disperse under the attack, but reports indicated that it had reorganized and was advancing again.

SIBERT'S FORCES

They were nearing the cavalrymen and infantrymen of Maj. Gen. Franklin C. Sibert's Tenth Corps, who had overrun the north coast of Leyte.

The Tenth Corps men—the first cavalry division and the 24th infantry division—had advanced five miles from captured Carigara to Colasian Point, which is only two miles from Pinamopoan, northern end of the main second-class highway which leads down to Ormoc.

The Japanese reinforcement column was estimated to number as high as one division.

Meanwhile, Adm. Nimitz announced from Pearl Harbor that Japanese aircraft attacked a carrier group of the Third Fleet Wednesday and damaged several American ships and inflicted light personnel losses.

Nimitz did not name the location where the carrier group was attacked.

It can be assumed, however, that some U. S. carriers are still patrolling off the Philippines until enough land-based air strength is gathered to allow the flattops to depart.

JAP AIR LOSSES

Six of the attacking Japanese planes were shot down by anti-aircraft fire from the warships, and carrier-based fighters shot down four more.

At the same time Nimitz announced that nine enemy twin-engined bombers attacked Isely airfield on Saipan and the northern airfield on Tinian island. It was the first enemy raid on the Marianas since July 6-7.

A lone Japanese reconnaissance seaplane attacked Peleliu island in the southern Palaus Tuesday night but was shot down by a Hellcat night fighter.

Nimitz said three Saipan-Tinian raiders, who presumably came from bases in the Bonins to the north, were shot down.

Japan probably lost seven aircraft carriers in the battle of the Philippines instead of the four announced, she is now a fifth rate naval power and her homeland is "pretty well open" to American naval attack, V. Adm. Marc A. Mitscher said in San Diego, Cal.

Arriving in the United States with his staff for a 30-day leave, the commander of the famed carrier task force 58 disclosed that Japan had seven aircraft carriers, not four, in the Philippine battle.

"We got four for sure and probably three others," Mitscher said. "We know we got the four because we saw them sink."

ENEMY STRENGTH

"As far as I know, the Japanese now have a few battleships and one or two first line carriers.

"Japan's homeland is pretty well open to our naval power."

He said that Japan's naval aviation had been practically eliminated. This was known, but the loss of seven enemy aircraft carriers instead of four was new.

Mitscher gave an amazing summary of the work his task force had done in less than nine months—from its first battle last January 29 to its most recent Oct. 27 off the Philippines.

In that period, Mitscher said, his carrier force had sunk or damaged 202 Japanese warships and 593 merchant ships.

In addition, he said, 2,568 enemy planes were shot down and 1,857 destroyed on the ground.

"These are conservative figures," Mitscher said, "we don't count those on the ground unless they burn up."

Of the 202 warships, Mitscher said, 88 were sunk, 25 probably sunk and 89 damaged. Of the 593 merchant ships 282 were sunk, 78 probably sunk and 233 damaged, he said. He gave the merchant tonnage destroyed as about 1,450,000 tons.

During the battles off Formosa and the Philippines, Mitscher said, the ratio of Japanese plane losses in combat to American losses was eight to one. For the entire period reviewed, he said, the percentage undoubtedly would be higher in favor of the United States.

'MOST UNPATRIOTIC THIEF' SOLD YULE GIFTS INTENDED FOR SOLDIERS

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—(INS)—John J. Fanning, 33, a railroad station mail handler, today was given the titles of the "meanest and the most unpatriotic thief" by Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan.

Fanning pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing soldier Christmas packages and selling their contents, including war-scarce cigarets.

Judge Sullivan continued the case for a week so that, he said, he would have time to think up a punishment to fit the crime.

U. S., France To Resume Postal Service Today

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(AP)—This country lifted its ban on free exchange of business and personal information with France today, as a preliminary step toward reopening trade with that nation.

Five-cent postal service will be started tomorrow. The United States, in co-ordination with the British Empire, officially removed liberated areas of France from the category of "enemy territory."

Treasury officials, announcing the restoration of commercial communications, disclosed that the De Gaulle government now is being permitted to use freely its "frozen" funds in this country.

This is done through a liberal licensing technique. The United States still has not unfrozen the assets and can prevent their use any time it thinks best. The Treasury officials said there are a "number of problems" that must be worked out before the funds are actually unfrozen.

PRIVATE ASSETS HELD

For the present, private French assets in this country still will not be accessible, generally speaking, to the French individuals and companies owning them.

Nor will private trade or financial transactions be allowed, except that remittances for the support of an individual may be sent to France through banking channels, not more than $500 a month.

As for communications, starting tomorrow you can send a letter, up to one ounce, to any part of continental France except the territory of Belfort and the departments of Doubs, Meurthe-et-Moselle, Meuse, Moselle, Bas-Rhin, Haut-Rhin, Haute-Saone, and Vosges.

CABLES MAY BE SENT

The letter can be on either business or personal matters. You can also send a cable. Up to now only post cards, unillustrated and on personal and family matters, have been permitted.

Without a license, American and French firms now can establish business contacts, exchange information, financial records and commercial reports. Creditors may get in touch with their debtors.

However, Treasury licenses will not be granted for the present for sending powers of attorney, executed proxies, payment instructions and other communications which are transactional in nature.

French assets in this country are valued at about $1,400,000,000. Treasury officials declined to say how much of that is in the name of the French government, but estimates range as high as $900,000,000.

$400,000 Suits Filed In 'Statler' Battle

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Damage suits asking $400,000 from the AFL Teamsters' Union were filed today by the two naval officers involved in the now famous "Battle of the Statler."

Lt. Randolph Dickins Jr. and Lt. Cmdr. James H. Suddeth contended in a complaint filed in U. S. district court that they were libeled in articles published by the International Teamster, union magazine, concerning the fisticuffs at the Statler hotel September 23 after President Roosevelt addressed a teamsters' banquet.

Each officer asked $200,000. Daniel J. Tobin, international president of the union, also was named a defendant.

The complaint said the union magazine's article accused the officers of numerous acts of misconduct which, if true, would subject them to court-martial.

DOUBLE BLOW TO 'BUG'

Intense Lottery Drive To Continue, Jury Forecasts; Dodys Indicted

By CHRISTINE JONES.

The September-October Fulton county grand jury hit the "bug" racket with both barrels in general presentments made public yesterday.

The jury predicted that the intensive investigation conducted during the past two weeks would be continued by the incoming grand jury, and returned a 12-count misdemeanor indictment against Charlie Dodys, reported to be one of the largest "bug" operators.

Dodys, 27, of a Capitol avenue address, was locked up in Fulton tower immediately after the indictment was returned, then released under bond of $12,000, put up in 109 hundred-dollar and smaller bills by a man listed as F. H. Worley, of 1046 Ormewood avenue, S. E. Worley is reported to be employed by C. E. Garner, professional bondsman.

The indictment, returned to Fulton superior court, was transferred to the criminal court of Fulton county, and Dodys' trial was set for November 15 by Solicitor Lindley W. Camp.

The 12 counts on which he was indicted included charges of operating a lottery on dates from July, 1943, through July, 1944. Solicitor General-elect E. E. Andrews described him as one of the "biggest lottery operators in the county."

According to his record in the Fulton county identificatoin bureau he was first convicted on a lottery charge on March 29, 1938, and sentenced to serve 12 months and pay a fine of $100. In August of this year he was fined $2,000 in DeKalb county on two lottery charges.

"This grand jury has consumed a great deal of time with the so-called "bug" or lottery racket, and this investigation will continue with the next incoming grand jury," the presentments read. Gov. Arnall, Chief M. A. Hornsby, of the city police, Chief George Mathieson, of the county police, and Maj. C. A. Williams, of the State Department of Safety, were commended for their cooperation and efforts to "eradicate this racket."

The jury also recommended that all unincorporated areas of the county—north, south, east and west, adjacent to Atlanta—should agree upon general annexation to Atlanta, "so as to enable it to take its place among the progressive and growing cities of the nation."

"We cannot envision any circumstances by which a gradual disintegration of corporate Atlanta would be of any aid or comfort to the residents of the suburban areas," the presentments continued.

Merging of individual city and county departments was frowned upon by the jurors. "The mere picking out of isolated functions of local government and attempting to combine them, with confusing problems of administration, does not constitute any real approach to this problem."

The county commissioners have

U. S. Supplies To England To Be Cut

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(AP)—American lend-lease to the British empire would be continued in 1945, but on a reduced scale, under tentative proposals now under consideration, it was learned today.

The tentative plans, officials said, call for a cut of about 50 per cent, which would mean American aid of between five and six billion dollars.

The officials said the British first estimated their needs at $6,500,000,000, but had since indicated this total might be scaled down by $500,000,000 or $1,000,000,000. Lend-lease to the British empire currently is at a rate which would put it over the 10 billion mark for 1944.

The original British estimates were turned over to President Roosevelt by Prime Minister Churchill at their Quebec conference. British and American experts now are working on detailed programs.

Whatever figures may tentatively be arrived at will be subject to revision depending upon whether the European war continues into the spring as Churchill has suggested is possible.

Dewey Against Factory, Farm Labor--Arnall

Candidate Uninterested In Farmer's Welfare, Says Governor

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Gov. Arnall, of Georgia, said tonight that the supporters of Gov. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee, believe the factory and farm workers of America were "born with saddles on their backs and bridles in their mouths," and added:

"I do not believe that they are waiting anxiously for the touch of the spurs to send them cantering down the high road to starvation."

The Governor, on a campaign tour in behalf of the Democratic ticket which has taken him into Tennessee, Minnesota and Oklahoma, said, in a prepared speech released at Atlanta:

"The farmer's prosperity is no concern of Gov. Dewey. His concern about the farmer is that he shall kill his pigs and cows and deliver his corn promptly on schedule at his master's demand."

"Will Gov. Dewey's philosophy permit him to countenance the minimum wage guarantees and the social security and unemployment benefit measures that the New Deal has provided for their protection?" he asked. "Perhaps—and perhaps not. These are not the people with whom Gov. Dewey concerns himself."

Arnall said the New Deal's farm policies redeemed nearly a million farms that had been lost through foreclosure during the Hoover administration, and increased the farm income four-fold—from five billion dollars in 1932 to 20 billion in 1939.

"And I'm using peacetime figures, instead of the greater figures of 1943, when we are at war," he added.

"The Roosevelt farm policies have worked so well that the farmer paid in interest only 44 cents out of every 10 dollars he received in 1939, instead of $9.14 out of every 10 dollars when Hoover was President.

"Consider the price of corn and pigs, of cotton and wheat, under the last Republican administration and under the New Deal, and decide for yourself."

again been requested by a grand jury to "give immediate attention" to a proper reorganization of the county police department. It was further recommended by the grand jury that one identification bureau would be adequate for both the city and county police forces.

The grand jury concurred with previous juries that too many sentences are probated, particularly those of the younger violators, "being mindful that entirely too much pardoning and paroling of prisoners has been done," the presentments read.

Urging that a special grand jury should be set up, the jurors recommended that the constitutional commitee study provisions for the calling of special grand juries and enact necessary legislation.

The erection of a state correction school—for first offenders, providing schooling, teaching of trades and supervised play—was asked by the jury.

Following an investigation of the professional bond business in the county, the jury recommended that each company or individual doing business as professional bondsmen submit to each incoming grand jury every 60 days, a list of all bonds outstanding and a list of all properties against which the bonds are made.

The jury criticized the open operation of gambling devices at the Southeastern Fair during the past and petitioned the directors of the fair to take steps to suppress gambling devices. The jurors also asked that the county delegation to the state legislature introduce adequate laws to prohibit fortune-tellers or palmists from operating in the county.

The presentments were made before Judge Virlyn B. Moore, of the Fulton superior court, and were signed by William V. Crowley, chairman, and Archibald Gann, secretary.

Auto Dealers Hear Official Of Studebaker

"The automobile industry will experience just as many shocks in changing to a peacetime program as it did in going into a war schedule," Kenneth B. Elliott, of South Bend, Ind., vice president in charge of sales for Studebaker Corporation, told members of the Georgia Automobile Dealers' Association.

Elliott discussed reconversion problems yesterday before a delegation of more than 400 dealers at an annual convention held at the Ansley hotel. He urged automobile representatives to be prepared to meet the problems of premises and facilities, personnel and the customer and public relations.

"Consideration of these problems now will pay big dividends not only for several years but for many years to come," the sales executive declared. "In the post-war era customers are going to patronize establishments which are more conveniently located, modernized and those which offer the best services."

WISE TO START EARLY

In taking up the problem of personnel in regard to reconversion, Elliott said "It would be wise for you to start early and get the pick of young servicemen who will return from the war. They are the men who have the brains to dominate the future.

"Better methods of selecting and training salesmen should be put into effect. Dealers sometimes forget the importance of endoctrinating their salesmen. Many only take time to tell the new employe where to hang his hat and when he gets paid."

BETTER SHOPS

Elliott advised the dealers to make their shops "a place where the customer can drive in, get good service, prompt attention and a fair price."

Other speakers for the all-day meeting were John R. Davis, of Dearborn, Mich., director of sales and advertising for Ford Motor Company; Lee W. Moran, of Washington, D. C., director of automotive division surplus property for the U. S. Treasury Department, and Russell C. Jones, of Reading, Pa., regional vice president of the National Automobile Dealers' Association.

C. D. Randall, of Griffin, outgoing president of the state association, installed new officers, which were elected yesterday during a business session. They were: A. O. Mitchell, of Atlanta, president; J. Swanton Ivy, of Athens, first vice president; Alton Costley, of East Point, second vice president, and Alton Farris, of Atlanta, treasurer.

Brazil No. 1 Ally--Draper

"Brazil is America's friendliest ally," Cmdr. Jesse Draper, who spent 29 months in the South American country as naval observer, told Atlanta Legionnaires of Post No. 1 at a luncheon here yesterday.

The former Atlanta real estate man traced the U. S.-Brazilian friendship back to the days of Thomas Jefferson when the third President of the United States said that if we could maintain friendly relations with Brazil the western hemisphere would remain at peace.

Cmdr. Draper termed Brazil a land of opportunity for aggressive Americans who seek advancement after the war. South American land receives the smiles of the gods, he said, as he told that Buenos Aires boulevards make "Fifth avenue look like Decatur street."

Lottery Case Bonds To Be Investigated

Judge Jesse M. Wood, of the criminal court of Fulton county, has ordered Sheriff T. Ralph Grimes not to accept any appearance bonds in lottery cases until the surety on the bond is approved by Solicitor Lindley W. Camp.

According to the order, which Wood signed yesterday, the surety on the bond in all lottery cases should be submitted to the solicitor of the criminal court, that he may make investigations and advise the sheriff of the sufficiency of the surety.

The order is another way to hold lottery violators for questioning, Camp pointed out. In the past, it has been the practice to accept appearance bonds in lottery cases, soon after the violators are arrested.

AWOL Soldier Ill From Hunger Strike

DeForrest Winter, an Atlanta soldier who was AWOL from Camp Atterbury, Indiana, for 10 days before his arrest here Monday, is in a state of semiconsciousness at Battery General hospital, in Rome, as the result of a six-day hunger strike, Federal Bureau of Investigation agents disclosed.

Meanwhile, two other Atlantans pleaded guilty yesterday before United States Commissioner David J. Meyerhardt to charges of aiding Winter's desertion. FBI agents listed the defendants as Donald Winter, of a Snyder avenue address, brother of the soldier, and Marjorie Hall Gordon. They were released under bond.

School Editors, Staffs Attend Journalism Clinic

High school editors, their staffs, and faculty advisors discussed their mutual problems of circulation, news coverage, and effective editorials in a journalism clinic at O'Keefe Junior High, conducted by L. H. Edmondson, assistant professor of the Henry W. Grady School of Journalism, University of Georgia.

Jack Troy, sports editor of The Constitution, told them Friday afternoon that sports writing is worthwhile in war or peace. "Not only do you get a chance, in wartime, to cover outstanding sporting events, but you can follow the records of boys who are using their athletic training in fighting," he explained.

The more than 200 teen-agers, from Fulton, DeKalb, and surrounding counties, heard Miss Ira Jarrell, superintendent of Atlanta public schools, declare, "The student of journalism has the greatest of opportunities to help make his school democratic, for the training for democracy should come from within the school."

Representatives from various junior and senior highs led forum discussions about editorial and advertising puzzlers. Winnie Satterfield, editor of the Tate Hi-Chatter, discussed promotion; Miss Mary Richards Colvin, adviser for the O'Keefe Log, circulation; Billy Stephenson, editor of the Hilltop Hi-Lite of West Point, writing and selling ads; Miss Gaither Cochran, advisor for the Richardsonian of College Park, editorials; Mary Elizabeth Flanders, literary editor of the Girls' High Times, features and featurettes; James Logan, associate editor of the Tech High Rainbow, "Is Your Paper Physically Attractive?" Laura Gault, associate editor of the Marietta High Pitchfork; Miss Mabel Brantly, advisor for the Griffin High Light, illustrations.

Posse Kills Slayer of Jailer

LAGRANGE, Ga., Nov. 3.—Robert Lee, Negro who allegedly fatally assaulted Jailer Arthur Harris and escaped from Troup county jail Tuesday, was shot and killed today by members of a posse seeking him near Rock Mills, Ala. The Negro was brought to the City-County hospital here at 1:30 p. m., but was pronounced dead upon arrival.

He is reported to have admitted assaulting Mr. Harris.

According to authorities, the Negro prisoner, who served as a "run-around" in the jail, enjoying a certain amount of freedom, had been in the Troup county jail since July awaiting trial on a charge of burglary in Hogansville.

He is alleged to have struck Jailer Harris over the head Tuesday about 6:30 p. m. with the post from a chair which he smashed, inflicting the injuries which proved fatal. According to authorities, Lee then dragged the jailer into a cell on the third floor, where the assault occurred, took his keys and escaped. As Lee was escaping he was seen by another Negro in jail, who called for help. The keys were found Wednesday morning under shrubbery near the jail.

City, county and state law enforcement authorities had searched since Tuesday night for the escaped Negro. E. V. Hilyer is Troup county sheriff.

Funeral services for Jailer Harris were held yesterday.

Georgia Voters Near 600,000

Secretary of State John B. Wilson has estimated that about 600,000 Georgians, including servicemen and servicewomen, are registered to vote in Tuesday's general election.

Registration figures from all but two small counties total 562,684 and reports from these two missing counties would add probably 6,000 to the total, he estimated.

Then, of course, is still to be added the registration of men and women in the armed services. Secretary Wilson figures that about 80,000 state ballots have been mailed to GI's by his office and the county ordinaries.

Planes Assault Cologne Area, Rheine Yards

LONDON, Nov. 3.—(UP)—Allied fighter bombers strafed and bombed German communications in the Dueren-Cologne-Bonn area today in a small-scale continuation of the air war on German transport feeding the western front; and U. S. air officials disclosed that American planes fought their great air battle over Germany Thursday at a cost of 10 less planes than was announced originally.

In contrast to the hot reception which 500 or more German fighters offered American heavy bombers over Germany the previous day, American planes were unopposed in their sweep over the Cologne-Bonn area today, reports from the Third Army front said.

A U. S. Strategic Air Forces communique said that a recheck showed 40 instead of 41 American bombers were lost in the attacks against Bielefeld, Rheine and Merseburg, and that at least nine of the 28 American fighters originally reported missing had landed at friendly airdromes. Others may turn up safe, the communique said.

Some 2,500 tons of bombs were dropped on the Leuna synthetic oil plant at Merseburg, focal point of German defenses, American sources disclosed. Good results were reported from the bombing of Bielefeld, where the freight yards were hit, a rail line cut and two viaducts damaged. Two bomb patterns lay across the "bottleneck" track area of the Rhine yards.

Observers reviewing the air battle over Germany pointed out that the Germans lost more than one in three of the estimated 500 planes which they put into the air.

British Fight Hard For Forli Airfield

ROME, Nov. 3.—(AP)—British infantry and armor fought bitterly tonight for Forli airfield, two miles southeast of the highway junction of Forli at the edge of the Po valley, while the season's most violent rains virtually halted action on the American Fifth Army front south of Bologna.

The British, pushing doggedly through deep Italian mud, reached a corner of the Forli airfield yesterday and by tonight had a firm hold on two sides of the field. Entrenched Nazis, supported by tanks, clung desperately to the northwest and northeast corners. Only a demolished canal bridge separated the opposing troops at the northeast corner.

Forli, approximately one-third of the distance from the Adriatic port of Rimini to the big communications center of Bologna, is the most important objective of British Eighth Army troops since they broke through the enemy's Gothic line at Rimini.

Mississippi Solid As Bill Is Signed

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Gov. Thomas L. Bailey signed today a legislative bill providing for a supplementary list of nine pro-Roosevelt presidential electors, and expressed unconcern over whether the legislative action in the state's Democratic elector revolt would endanger the status of the Mississippi members of congress.

The congressional issue was raised by John J. O'Connor in charge of the New York office of the American Democratic National Committee (anti-fourth term).

O'Connor wired the Governor that "your proposal to the Mississippi legislature to change the rules in the middle of the game as to presidential electors would unseat every one of your seven representatives in congress, under Section 2 of the 14th amendment to the constitution of the United States."

Bailey's comment was, "I'm not worried about Mississippi's congressmen being unseated."

Section 2 of the 14th amendment provides for apportioning of representatives in congress among the states according to their respective population, and for reduction in the basis of representation in event of denial to any citizens 21 years of age of the right to ballot on presidential electors.

Prompt action is necessary in replying to the attractive offers in The Constitution Want Ads.

U. S., China In Accord, Says Soong

Denies Reports U. S. Exerted Pressure on Communist Problem

CHUNGKING, Nov. 3.—(AP)—T. V. Soong, Chinese foreign minister, declared today that China and the United States has reached "complete agreement" on closer military, political and economic co-operation and denied reports that the U. S. had exerted pressure on China to settle her Communist problem.

In the first detailed statement from a Chinese government official since the recall of Gen. Stilwell as commander in chief of American forces in the China-Burma-India theater, Soong said the recall was "entirely a question of personality"—that Stilwell and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek simply did not like each other and could not work together.

"The recall of Gen. Stilwell has nothing to do with any difference of policy between China and the United States," the foreign minister said.

AGREEMENT REACHED

"On the contrary," he said, "when Maj. Gen. Patrick Hurley and Mr. Donald Nelson, as personal representatives of President Roosevelt, came to confer with my government on closer military, political and economic co-operation, complete agreement was reached between us.

"Far from any rift developing between China and the United States, I believe that from now on relations between the two countries will be more understanding, more intimate and more fruitful than ever before."

Soong acknowledged that the matter of co-operation between Chiang's government and the Chinese Communists, had been discussed at the meeting in Chungking, but said the discussion was held in the most friendly manner. The matter, he said, was an internal problem of China and was respected by the Americans as such.

RIFT RECALLED

In discussing what he called "l'affaire Stilwell," Soong denied that there had been any disagreement between Chungking and Stilwell over the campaign in Burma. Soong said the dislike between Stilwell and Chiang had existed from the first year of Stilwell's stay in China.

The foreign minister said the Chinese welcomed the appointment of Maj. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer as Stilwell's successor in China, and that the impending return of Nelson to Chungking under Chiang's urging injected a hopeful note into the situation. The generalissimo is known to have a high regard for Nelson.

Nelson's purpose in coming to China, the foreign minister asserted, was to find practical means whereby China, in co-operation with the Allies, could contribute a fuller share in the task of beating Japan as quickly as possible.

The resignation of U. S. Ambassador Clarence E. Gauss was in no way connected with the Stilwell episode, Soong declared.

In his talk with correspondents Soong said China welcomed constructive criticism, but he insisted that a great deal of the criticism from abroad had not been constructive. He said events would show whether China's critics had been right or wrong.

Stilwell Arrives In Washington

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(UP) Gen. Stilwell, recalled from his command of American troops in China because of long-standing personal differences with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, arrived here by plane today but "had no public statement to make."

A brief memorandum issued by Maj. Gen. A. D. Surles, Army public relations director, said that Stilwell would take a short leave of absence after conferring with War Department officials.

It was not indicated whether Stilwell would confer with President Roosevelt before the latter leaves on a campaign tour tomorrow. Mr. Roosevelt told a news conference Tuesday that Chiang had requested Stilwell's recall and that the simple fact of the matter was that Stilwell and the generalissimo had had a number of fallings out over a period of some time.

Chinese Capture Burma Road Key

CHUNGKING, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The Chinese campaigning to reopen a land supply route from India recaptured the Burma road bastion of Lungling today and extras on Chungking's streets proclaimed the triumphant news.

The Chinese command's announcement of recapture of the city dispelled rumors that Chinese commanders along the Salween river front were considering withdrawal of their forces.

Fighting had swirled around the strategic city for four months. The Chinese launched an offensive to retake it Sunday, badly battering the Japanese in vicious fighting. The enemy remnants were reported in retreat southwestward tonight, with the victorious Chinese in pursuit.

Lungling was the last major enemy strongpoint barring a junction of the Ledo road out of India with the old Burma road in southwest China.

Kweilin, a potential stumbling block for the Japanese effort to seal off Free China from any American landings along the coast, virtually was encircled tonight.

The Chinese high command admitted that one Japanese column had swung around to a position only six miles west of this city in northeastern Kwangsi province while another, moving around from the east, was 18 miles southwest of Kweilin.

The Japanese were moving ahead elsewhere in Kwangsi province, developing a multiple threat to Liuchow, important railway junction.

Life Termer Stabbed to Death In Tattnall Fight

Lewis Harry, 21-year-old life termer, fatally stabbed Edward Pressley, 27, another life termer, in a fight on the fourth floor of Tattnall state prison, near Reidsville, F. R. Hammack, director of the State Department of Corrections, has reported.

The men, both with long escape records, were two of six convicts who were tried on a charge of killing a guard in Coffee county in November last year and received life sentences.

Warden A. C. Aderholt, of Tattnall prison, reported to Hammack yesterday there had been ill-feeling between the two convicts for some time and in June, 1944, they had a fight during which Pressley inflicted flesh wounds on Harry with a knife.

The fight occurred during the recreation period at the prison. Harry stabbed Pressley several times, Aderholt said, and Pressley died a short time later. The knife was fashioned from a scrap of metal.

Return of 'Dead' Man Reveals Mistaken Identity

While preparing to inform all relatives that her uncle, James C. Peak, of 178 Memorial drive, S. E., had died as the result of an accident a short time earlier at the corner of Washington and Trinity avenue, Mrs. R. J. Pittman, also residing at the Memorial drive address, saw her uncle walk into the house.

Mrs. Pittman, called to Grady hospital early yesterday morning, was told that a man identified by papers found on his person as Peak, had been severely injured. She was permitted to sit beside the bed of the dying man, and following the death, she directed that the body be removed to chapel of J. Austin Dillon.

33 THIS YEAR
24 This Time Last Year

Several hours later, Peak returned to his home, and Mrs. Pittman, realizing that a mistake had been made, immediately informed hospital authorities and the undertakers of the mistake.

The dead man was later identified as J. C. Rattley, 60, also of a Memorial drive address. Police records reveal he was knocked down and badly mangled by a heavy trailer truck tractor late Friday night.

C. M. Reynolds, of 381 Crew street, driver of the tractor, told police officials the bright lights of an approaching automobile blinded him, and that he did not see Rattley.

After Mrs. Pittman's discovery, the body of Rattley remained unidentified at the undertaking establishment for several hours.

Rattley's death yesterday brought a warning from Chief Hornsby to pedestrians and motorists to be extremely careful and avoid accidents.

"Our traffic death toll is growing at a rapid rate," he said.

Mr. Dewey Said It Couldn't Be Done

Again and again and again in recent weeks young Thomas E. Dewey must have regretted the brash statements with which he made the nation's front pages during his meteoric rise in the political picture.

None, however, is probably more embarrassing to him now—or more clearly indicative of his limited horizons—than his expostulated dismissal of President Roosevelt's call, shortly after Pearl Harbor, for 50,000 planes a year as "ridiculous and absurd."

That short-sighted display of his lack of confidence in American industry returned again to haunt him this week when the War Production Board announced that, in the four years and two months between July 1, 1940 and September 30, 1944, the United States built 232,403 airplanes, including 74,953 bombers, 70,627 fighters, 17,952 transports, 54,642 trainers, 2,345 for reconnaissance, 10,785 for communications, and 1,459 for special purposes.

The goal of 50,000 a year which Mr. Roosevelt envisioned and which Mr. Dewey termed preposterous has long since been passed. It would have been doubled and trebled by now save for the fact that, as we were able to take the offensive, the war's needs changed and, instead of fighter planes, more and more emphasis has been placed on the great bombers which entail so many, many more man hours.

Under the leadership of President Roosevelt, a man of vision, foresight and confidence in the ability of American labor and ingenuity, we have done exceedingly well in the war to date.

This is no time to send in another pitcher . . . especially not one who, to date, has shown so little on the ball.

Miracle of Navigation

So many great stories of heroism and devotion have come out of this war that one may not recount them all. Nevertheless, one of these seems to be worth more than passing attention.

It is the story of the Liberty ship Dudley Field and her gallant captain, Albion M. Burbank, and her equally gallant crew. The ship was loaded with men and explosives. The captain had never been in Philippine waters. The last 150 miles between him and Leyte bay were filled with minefields. He and his crew decided to take her in. They did so, dropping anchor in the bay with all hands, troops and explosives safe.

We agree with the War Shipping Administration that it was "a miracle of navigation." We also wonder if the captain carries the left hind foot of a graveyard rabbit? Or something else as good?

Twice Martyred Library of Louvain

In August, 1914, the German invaders deliberately, with wanton vandalism, destroyed by fire the world-famed Library of Louvain, in Belgium. That was one of the innumerable demonstrations of the moronic mind of Prussian militarism in the first World War.

Following that war, the Library of Louvain was rebuilt and stocked with 700,000 books, sent by contributors from all over the world. The rebuilding of the library was an American undertaking, financed by gifts from hundreds of American universities, colleges, schools, institutions and individuals. The new building was designed by Whitney Warren, famed American architect.

In order not to keep alive national hatreds, the inscription originally planned was not placed on the new building. It would have read (translated), "Through German fury destroyed; rebuilt through American generosity."

They might as well have placed the inscription there. For, in May, 1940, the Germans came again and, again, destroyed by fire the great library. The new building, the precious 700,000 volumes, went up in flame as had its predecessor.

This time the Belgian people themselves have planned to reconstruct the library. But they cannot supply the books. Therefore a movement has been started, in this country, to help in restocking the shelves of Louvain. The 700,000 books must be replaced.

Subscriptions to this cause should be sent to the Louvain Library Book Fund, Inc., Room 3055, 630 Fifth Avenue, New York 20, N. Y. Many of America's most distinguished educators and cultural leaders are on the committee in charge of this project. The name of each donor will be suitably inscribed in as many books for the library as his gift will purchase.

Twice, in a quarter century, the Huns of Germany have wantonly destroyed one of the world's great temples of culture. Each time it is restored, by our help. We must see that never again can such barbaric vandalism destroy that which it has not the wit to comprehend.

THE PULSE OF THE PUBLIC

The Constitution welcomes letters from its readers. They must be signed, should not exceed 200 words.

Free Enterprise

Editor Constitution: These are the questions which need to be deeply pondered. Finding the right answers may mean the difference between success and failure, progress and stagnation; may even mean the difference between peace and war. If free enterprise should mean that big business will be free to push little businesses to the wall. Or if it should mean a return to the days of "equal weight and fineness," to monopolies, to holding companies and worthless stocks. Then let us beware, for in these circumstances free enterprise would mean freedom from legal restraints. Freedom to do business as one may please without regard for the consequences to other businesses or for the rights of the public.

Unceasingly the people have struggled to free themselves from these injustices. Within recent years some real progress has been made towards curbing these unfair and often corrupt practices. One wonders if we now intend to lose all we have gained, by permitting the government to be taken over by the advocates of free enterprise whose avowed purpose is to do away with these restraints. It seems plain to see that the talk about other issues is only a smoke screen designed to hide the fact that special interests are again actively seeking to secure control of the government. The real issue is clearly cut. Mr. Dewey's election would mean that the government would be run in the interests of big business alone. Whereas Mr. Roosevelt's re-election would mean that the government would continue to be run in the interest of all the people, big business included.

Dewey and His Crowd

Editor, Constitution: I am not a politician, have not held any political office in my life. I am a Methodist preacher and have been for 44 years. I am deeply interested in the race for president. The isolationists of the Republican party defeated Wilson and his League of Nations and this made possible this war, and that crowd cannot be trusted now. F. D. Roosevelt has done a good job on the war business and his defeat would pep up the Germans and the Japs and sacrifice thousands more of our boys.

To change the head of every department of our government would mean disaster and trouble and prolongation of the war for months and we cannot afford this. I am voting religiously when I vote against Dewey and his crowd now. People of Georgia and America let us go to the polls and bury this isolation crowd so deep that the Angel Gabriel will have to toot his horn 10 times louder than he has ever tooted to wake that bunch up. So mote it be.

Out of Place?

Editor Constitution: After reading several of "One Track Mind" Pegler's recent diatribes against President Roosevelt and his family, one must conclude that the poor fellow is definitely due a pass to one of the many institutions, located in his neck of the woods, and reserved for people who "live under a cloud." It is certainly out of its class in a decent newspaper like The Atlanta Constitution.

David and Goliath

Editor Constitution: The present political contest reminds me of the Bible story of David and Goliath, they represented right in a triumph over might and today we have little Tom and big Frank with the same allignment, little Tom representing an average American trying to reach the top by diligence and hard work while big Frank is gifted with all the deceit and intrigue of politics and has the ego to claim that he is the only living man capable of handling the job, just because he happened to belong to the idle rich.

While we hope that right will triumph over might on the battle fronts I believe we will have to show the world that right can triumph over might on the home front. We should show the world that we mean what we say, that no one man can take this country as was the case in Germany and Japan. While we are trying to liberate them from a one-man rule we are about to become the victim of a one-man rule at home.

Best Qualified

Editor Constitution: Ordinarily, in matters political, I am an independent. But this time I have no doubt about who I ought to vote for. It makes no difference with me whether it is for the fourth term or any other number of terms. The supreme need of the hour is for us to win the war and stop the gastly waste of life and the nation's resources. Roosevelt seems to be the man best qualified to lead the nation at this time.

I am voting, gladly, for Franklin Delano Roosevelt for President, America's indispensable man in this hour of national peril.

Some Aspects Of the Campaign

Having indorsed all the Democratic party social security legislation, the guarantees of bank deposits, pensions, control of the security exchange, the FEPC, and other bureaus and agencies, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey was left without any real issues.

He came out for these measures in his San Francisco speech and promptly was rebuked by many of his supporters, including the New York Daily News and the Chicago Tribune.

Dewey could not talk much about the war because his board of strategists, quite properly from a political campaign viewpoint, decided that discussion of the war redounded to Mr. Rooseelt's benefit. The attack in which the charge was made that Mr. Roosevelt had done nothing to get us ready for war, proved such a boomerang it was dropped.

As a consequence, Mr. Dewey could not do much talking about the war. He has had to bring it in more or less indirectly.

Thus, he was faced with the necessity of making a rather low-grade campaign. This he has done rather effectively.

Hillman Students of political science will be interested in Mr. Dewey's position with regard to the CIO and the "Communists." The Communists are not an issue in this campaign, as Mr. Dewey himself knows. The PAC is an issue, but it may support the Republican candidates in another election and, if so, you will hear a thunderous silence.

For instance, in 1937, Mr. Dewey asked for, and received, the help of the American Labor Party, the CIO, and the Communists. This is a matter of record. In 1939 he actively solicited the help of Sidney Hillman and the CIO union which Hillman heads. He also asked for, and received and used, a check for $5,000 in his campaign for district attorney. This check was signed by Sidney Hillman, the same Hillman whom Mr. Dewey now finds so abhorrent.

One may be sure if the PAC were supporting Mr. Dewey he would welcome it and remain discreetly silent concerning it.

This is a political campaign and Mr. Dewey is a politician. He is a very good one, I may add. I do not blame him for his policy, even though I cannot bring myself to admire it. I think, for instance, that his encouragement of the campaign seeking to prove that Mr. Roosevelt, who is in perfect health and younger than either Churchill or Stalin, is a sick man near death, is one of the lowest and most inexcusable campaign weapons ever employed. But, politics being politics, I can understand why he used it, even though I deplore it as evidence of bad taste.

Viewing the campaign objectively, I think Dewey has run a good campaign without any issues on which to go. That it has been a low-grade one is not surprising. That was about all that was left him.

Independent Democrats Here in Georgia some Republican money has been sent the "Independent Democrats." They will have a set of electors on the ballot Tuesday.

They are not important. It may be of interest to know, however, that a vote for the Independent Democrats is a vote for Dewey. That is all it is and nothing else.

If you contemplate voting for Dewey, by all means vote for him on the Republican side and ignore the utterly false label of "Independent Democrats." They are not Democrats and they are not independent. The Democratic party has its nominees chosen in regular convention.

So, there remains nothing to do but wait for Tuesday. Be sure and vote. This year it is of more importance than ever before.

Politicians Figure On Short Memories

One of the handicaps of a democracy is the shortness of memory displayed by so many of the free and independent voters. Professional politicians count on this weakness. This is evidenced in many of the campaign speeches which they believe will gain them votes. For they use, so unscrupulously, half-truths or outright deceptions, confident that some voters, at least, will forget the cold facts on the record and believe as the shrewd campaigner wants them to believe.

Without such confidence in the weak memories of their hearers, Republican speakers in the present national campaign would not dare to make such illogical, twisted distortions of the truth as they have made. All of them, with their presidential candidate, Tom Dewey, the worst of them all in this respect.

Listening to Dewey speak over the radio, I have gathered the impression that he is, basically, a professional prosecutor. That his two years as Governor of New York have not been sufficient to change his habits of thought, which are the habits of a prosecuting attorney who, when he has a poor case, on the evidence, tries to confuse and bias the jury by emphasizing either half-truths or false conclusions. He does this so long as the court lets him get away with it.

A man who, even in the heat of a political campaign, will make many of the charges Dewey has made—charges which anyone who remembers even the baldest outline of the record of the last 25 years knows are false—does not seem to me to be fit to lead this nation in times such as those we are now living through. We need a statesman of world stature in the White House, not a prosecutor unhampered by too many scruples.

We Are Jury We, the voters of the nation, constitute the jury to decide the issue by the ballots we shall cast on Tuesday next. The only basis on which we can decide is the truth or falsity of the charges made by Prosecutor Dewey. For he has chosen to run his campaign in that style. He has offered us no definite, constructive program to judge. In regard to all issues of the present or the future, he has spoken only in platitudious generalities. All he uses as a base for his plea for election, is a barrage of accusations of the Democratic administration and boastings about previous Republican administrations.

So many of these charges and claims concerning the past are so blatantly false that the voter with any sort of a memory considers them only absurd, or tragically amusing.

Can You Remember? Can you remember the facts? Can you remember the days when a Republican President ordered the Army to drive American citizens, veterans of the first World War, out of their own capital, Washington, where they had gone to plead for help in their pitiful extremity?

Can you remember that all we got from Hoover, the man who is still the ominous shadow behind today's Republican campaign, was dreary repetition of that meaningless phrase, "prosperity is just around the corner," at a time when we were, so many of us, jobless and hungry?

Can you remember the new confidence, the new hope, that came into our hearts with the inauguration of Franklin D. Roosevelt? Can you remember that, during his first two terms, the national prosperity gained so much that 10,000,000 new jobs were created?

Can you remember the struggle of the Democratic President to prepare this nation for the war that he saw coming, a struggle against the bitterest opposition of the Republicans in congress? Can you remember a hundred other things that you should remember?

Republican Candidate Dewey is betting his hopes for election on his belief that you can't remember.

The proof will be in the ballot boxes next Tuesday.

"Massachusetts Bankers' Association launches plan whereby doctors can indorse patients' notes and receive immediate payment for services rendered."—News item.

Whenever some new plan appears we are obsessed with sudden fears,
For, in behind each enterprise that minds of clever men devise,
There is a plan to take us in and separate us from our tin.
This is a very pleasant sphere and gladly would we linger here
To turn our fascinated gaze on all of Nature's great displays—
To linger by the waterfall and hear the wooing muskrat call
His timid mate, or watch the bear go waddling homeward to his lair,
And in this carefree manner live on all that Nature has to give.
But other men, for wealth athirst, have reached the woods and mountains first,
Dammed up the streams and caged the bears and penned the muskrats up in pairs,
And there is nothing we may see unless we pay a little fee.

In vain pursuit of happiness, we meet financial distress,
Our funds are spent in small amounts while we forget our large accounts,
Yet always have the price, somehow, to see the famed two-headed cow
Or buy some tickets for the game when Old Siwash plays Notre Dame.
While, just to see a doctor's bill, will make a healthy person ill
Or cause a ptient, almost well, to have a sudden sinking spell.
Too quickly we forget the speed the doctor made to fill our need,
To take the peanuts from our lungs or gaze upon our coated tongues,
And failing thus to do our part, upset the economic cart—
And doctors specialize in loans while bankers deal in broken bones!

"There Is No $1,000 Club in My Party"

ROBERT QUILLEN

Letter To the Redhead

My dear Louise:

I will give you advice as long as you care to listen, but I won't make decisions for you. I want you to stand alone; to think for yourself; to have self-confidence and be self-reliant. If you couldn't decide whether to eat cake or pie without consulting me, I'd feel as though you were crippled.

Today I read something written by a Navy officer concerning an 18-year-old boy who cracked up at the front. He was a praecox, tortured by imaginary wounds, and the doctors declared him incurable.

It wasn't the war alone that ruined him. He would have cracked up the first time he faced life on his own. He has an "inadequate personality." He "lacks the ability to adjust himself to environment."

A year ago a worried general said the draft had revealed many such boys. They had been petted and treated as infants and not permitted to develop enough strength to stand alone. They had been carried and coddled in the arms of love, and when they were required to stand on their own feet they quickly collapsed.

All young things must be trained for the business of living. Predatory wild animals are born with protective instincts, yet mothers teach the young to hide and hunt and beware of dangers, so they quickly become independent and self-sufficient.

They might learn from necessity if they were free and on their own. Little chicks cared for by a motherly old hen will cheep in loud alarm when they lose sight of her, but orphan incubator chicks are independent little foragers from the first.

When a fighting colonel in Italy was asked what kind of men make the best soldiers, he answered that he would prefer an outfit composed of youngsters who had served as newsboys and sold papers on the street.

Such kids develop quickly. They learn to face the world without fear; to stand alone and solve their own problems and fight their own battles. They become seasoned hardwood at an age when other kids are still soft and easily bent saplings.

In the ordinary home, kids get necessary training without conscious effort. If not operated by strings like marionettes, but given duties and responsibilities and allowed to use their own heads, they learn by doing and develop all the independence and self-reliance they need.

I don't mean to say you'd now become a mental case if I made decisions for you, but self-confidence is necessary to success in any calling and it is developed by practice. Use your bean; that's what it's for.

Love,
DAD.

Have you forgotten that in the early 1930's when we hungered with Hoover farmers were selling cotton for 5 cents a pound, hogs around 3 cents? Do you remember that under the Republican administration your tobacco crop averaged between 6 and 8 cents? Do you remember the Republicans promised a chicken in every pot and two cars in the garage and you had to sell the pot and you rode in a two-wheeled Hoover cart made of the old car and powered by Beck the mule? Have you forgotten that the Republicans took charge at the end of World War I and their stupid mismanagement preceded the worst depression the world has ever known?

Nazis Selling Der Fuehrer Short

The Nazis have repealed a lot of things, but the law of supply and demand is still in effect in Germany.

That was clearly evidenced this week when the Breslau town council was forced to decree that no pictures of Adolf Hitler may be sold for less than 45 marks.

Americans, wrestling with the problems presented by price ceilings, find consolation in the thought that the Nazis have found it necessary to put a floor under der Fuehrer.

The action, according to usually reliable sources, came after thousands of pictures of Adolf were dumped on the market, forcing it down to prices "incompatible with Hitler's dignity."

I can't imagine anything selling that cheap.

But the Germans are smart getting whatever they can out of their Hitler portraits now. Come fair weather and Gen. Patton and pictures of Adolf are going to be a bigger drug on the market than Dewey buttons on Wednesday next.

Fortune Poll Encourages Democrats

WASHINGTON.—Latest figures developed in the Fortune Magazine poll have been heartening to the Democrats in two respects.

First, they show that President Roosevelt is holding a seven-point edge over Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, a difference that is more than enough to insure his election by a comfortable margin.

But what may be equally important, the figures also indicate that whatever downward trend there may have been against the President has now stopped and is proceeding upward again.

Fortune, which has a greater reputation for accuracy than any of the poll-takers, gives the President 53.5 per cent of the vote to be cast in November. The figures are based upon a survey made during the week of October 16.

An earlier survey made two weeks before the October 16 date gave the President 53.1 per cent. Thus a gain of nearly one-half of one per cent was recorded in his favor during the semi-final stage of the campaign.

If the gain over this two-week period is used to project a trend, then it might be assumed that Mr. Roosevelt's total will amount to approximately 54 per cent of the vote cast in November, or only slightly under his figure of four years ago.

But ignoring the idea of a trend, the least that can be assumed from the figures is that they represent a stabilization of political sentiment at a point where the President has a popular majority of 53.5 per cent.

Translated into actual votes, that means that the Roosevelt-Truman ticket should roll up a majority of around 3,500,000, if the total vote approaches the 50,000,000 mark that it did four years ago when the President had a majority of, roughly, 5,000,000.

It is to be noted, however, that the Fortune poll does not take into consideration all of the factors concerning the servicemen's vote, which may be in excess of 3,000,000. Polling of the soldier vote is prohibited.

Most of the estimates give this vote to the President at a ratio of about three to one. On the basis of 3,000,000 such votes, therefore, another million must be added to the Roosevelt popular majority. That would have him running just about as he did in 1940, which to many observers seems a fair appraisal.

Unlike most of the other poll-takers, Fortune Magazine does not break down its survey to show the results in individual states. Hence no effort was made to estimate the size of the President's majority in the electoral college.

If the magazine's figures are as correct this time as they have been in the past, however, we may be assured of something approaching another Roosevelt landslide—in electoral votes, at least.

Perhaps it is still a bit too early to make a final prediction on the election.

Nevertheless, evidences now at hand indicate there is a strong temptation to write the President down for about as big an electoral vote as he received against Wendell Willkie four years ago. It could be even bigger, depending on how such states as Michigan, Indiana and Colorado go—three of the ten carried by Willkie.

The Democrats are given a chance in each of these states—and a very good chance in Michigan, the largest of the Willkie-carried states.

It isn't necessary to go beyond Michigan in estimating the size of the President's electoral vote, because it is generally conceded that if Dewey cannot carry Michigan, a normal Republican stronghold and his native state, then he hasn't much chance in any of the other great middle western commonwealths.

But aside from the count in the electoral college, the main thing about the current outlook is that it has a decided Democratic flavor. Dewey could still win, perhaps, but to do so he would have to pull a political miracle. Democrats have never been more heartened than they are today, only a few days before the election.

ALL IN THE GAME
JACK TROY

Those Extra Points DURHAM, N. C., Nov. 3.—The "foot" in football long has plagued W. A. (Bill) Alexader, Georgia Tech's veteran leader. For a long time Alex insisted that there ought to be some change in the rules about the extra point. He often called games decided by one point "tie games."

But Alex isn't worried about the point-after-touchdown this year. All he worries about is getting the touchdown.

Dinkey Bowen will take care of the extra points.

Georgia Tech got off to a slow start in that important department. There were only three extra points kicked as Tech scored eight touchdowns against Clemson.

But the percentage, since, has been outstanding. For the season thus far Tech kickers (mostly Bowen) have supplied 13 points in 20 attempts. There were four out of four against North Carolina, three out of four against Auburn, two out of two against Navy (plus a field goal by Bowen), and one out of two against Georgia Preflight.

If the Duke game is decided by extra points or, perhaps, a field goal, Tech will be in there kicking.

Personally, I don't think Duke will be able to stop Tech's passing and Bowen's running. The Jackets always have a hard time against Duke, and Duke is being under-rated in some quarters because of having played such a hard schedule.

It's going to be a tough game for Tech to win, but I think the Jackets have enough stuff—and fight—to win it.

'Pigskin Pete' Next week, or the week after, I'm scheduled to be "Pigskin Pete," the peerless prognosticator, for Editor J. G. Taylor Spink's Sporting News, of St. Louis. So, just by way of warming up, I think I'll take a stab at the games scheduled here and there Saturday—

IN THE EAST: Notre Dame over Navy (smartness often wins); Army over Villanova, Michigan over Penn, Yale over Dartmouth, Cornell over Columbia, West Virginia over Temple, Penn State over Syracuse.

IN THE SOUTH: Alabama over Georgia, Georgia Tech over Duke, Tennessee over L. S. U., Mississippi State over Kentucky, Wake Forest over Clemson, North Carolina over South Carolina.

IN THE MIDWEST: Ohio State over Indiana (old Wabash moon won't shine so bright that night); Minnesota over Northwestern, Purdue over Wisconsin, Iowa over Nebraska, Great Lakes over Marquette, Oklahoma over Iowa State.

IN THE SOUTHWEST: Randolph Field over North Texas Aggies, Rice over Texas Tech, Texas over S. M. U., Tulsa over Iowa Preflight, T. C. U. over Chatham Field (at Savannah, Ga.); March Field over UCLA; Texas A. and M. over Arkansas.

IN THE FAR WEST: Alameda Coast Guard over California (tough year for Stub Allison), Southern California over San Diego Navy, Colorado over New Mexico, and that's that.

Sports in Short Thisa and Data Dept.: A coach's life is no bed of roses, as the following note from WALLACE BUTTS will attest. . . . "I still can't get over the L. S. U. game. . . . I am sleeping downstairs because I am afraid I might jump out a window. . . . When I think about losing NICK FEHER, 215-pound tackle; BOULEY, CHESNA and WEST, all 200-pound fullbacks; MALINOWSKI, a great center; JOHNNY COOK, and now AL PERL I really suffer. . . . With most of the men I named in the lineup we would be undefeated today. . . . I think this is my hard luck year for coaching." . . . RAYMOND JOHNSON, sports editor of The Nashville Tennesseean, saw the L. S. U. game. . . . Here's what "CORNERSTONE" JOHNSON wrote, in part: "The best and about the only weapon L. S. U. had in its scrap with the Georgia Bulldogs in Atlanta was the punt. . . . It brought BERNIE MOORE an upset victory, just as it had given the late DAN McGUGIN, FIELDING YOST, WALLACE WADE and many other coaches victories when the odds were strongly against them. . . . GENE (RED) KNIGHT'S punting was so sensational that some of the writers were wont to compare him with GLENN DOBBS, BEATTIE FEATHERS, "HURRY" CAIN, HARRY KIPKE, SCOTTY NEIL, BUCK FLOWERS and other sensational kickers of the last quarter of a century. . . . Knight's kicking was directly responsible for L. S. U.'s triumph." . . . RELL SPILLER, the old baseball man turned golf course operator, is going to have a birthday party next Wednesday night at the Ansley Room, Ansley hotel. . . . Rell, who'll be 64, is being given a party by HENRY THORBURN. . . . Many of Rell's old friends will be present to help him celebrate the passing of another milestone. . . . MIKE ULISNEY, a catcher, was the only Southern Leaguer drafted by a major league club. . . . Memphis owned Ulisney, who was discharged from the Army just before the baseball season ended. . . . Memphis had won Ulisney on waivers for $1,750. . . . Both Atlanta and Memphis had claimed him, so there was a draw for the catcher, and Memphis won. . . . Ulisney never reported to Memphis, but when Boston drafted him for $6,000, Memphis made a clear $4,250 on the deal. . . . It cost Atlanta that much money by having lost in the draw. . . . JOE ENGEL, incidentally, discovered DOC PROTHRO, present Memphis manager. . . . Engel was scouting around Dyersburg, Tenn. . . . Engel said he heard a report that a chubby infielder, who practiced dentistry on the side, was worth looking over. . . . Marist Eleven Shades North Fulton, 20 to 12

By KIMSEY WARR.

Halloween came a little late for the North Fulton Bulldogs when the Marist Cadets handed them a 20-12 defeat last night at Dykes field in Buckhead.

North Fulton kicked off to the Cadets, but the latter were unable to move the strong Bulldog line and fumbled to set up the first score. A penalty put the ball on the Cadet eight, where MacMullen took charge and fought his way over for the touchdown. The extra point failed.

Salome returned the next kickoff to the 44, from where Marist was forced to kick. Trying to overpower the Cadets with line plunges, the Bulldogs fumbled, and Tidwell covered it for the Cadets on the Bulldogs' 15. Salome pushed to the three, and Fowler plunged for the tally. Ware went over for the extra point, and Marist led, 7-6.

Marist kicked off to the Bulldogs who, after a series of line plunges, fumbled, with Ford covering for the Cadets. Salome and Ware, aided by a penalty, put the ball on the Bulldog 1-yard line. Ware dived over for another marker. A line plunge gave Marist the extra point. The half ended shortly with the score 14-6 in favor of Marist.

The Bulldogs took the second half kickoff but had to yield the ball on downs. The Cadets took to the air with Salome again in the starring position, passing and running to push to the 24. Ware moved to the 10 and Salome passed to Carley for the touchdown. The extra point try was blocked.

TURNS ON STEAM

North Fulton turned on the steam in the last part of the fourth quarter but was a little late for the Cadets were too far in front. A Cadet fumble led to the Bulldogs' last score. Gholson passed to Ford in the left flat and on the next down took it over. The extra point try was by place-kick but was no good.

Salome stood out far ahead of any other player with his bullet passing and fine running. Ware also did some beautiful running.

Gholson took the spotlight for the Bulldogs with his magnificent kicking and passing.

Marietta Beats Typists, 7 to 0

By DAVID SNELL.

MARIETTA, Ga., Nov. 3.—The Blue Devils of Marietta High took a fighting Commercial High eleven in tow here tonight to the tune of 7 to 0.

The Marietta team pushed across the lone score shortly after the third period got under way. After running the kickoff back to their own 45-yard line, the Blue Devils drove to the six-inch line on power plays and here the Typists took over. A poor Commercial kick gave the home eleven the ball at the 15. Dick Dendy raced across the double stripes after several line plays, and Williams passed to Dendy for the extra point.

Jennings, star back on the Typist team, executed the game's most exciting play when he danced 30 yards through the entire Marietta team late in the second period. He was caught from behind about midfield. Commercial and Marietta both threatened on other occasions, but each time the defensive lines strengthened and held.

Georgia Tech Faces Duke In Top Southern Game

Jackets Given Slight Edge In Durham Go

Hampered by Injuries, Tech Still Favored Over Blue Devils

By JACK TROY
Constitution Sports Editor.

DURHAM, N. C., Nov. 3.—Georgia Tech's able Engineers, though suffering somewhat from injuries and the likely loss of a steady back because of a death in the family, nevertheless are favored over the Duke Blue Devils in the annual gridiron engagement here tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

George Mathews, the clever pass receiver, is far from being in the best of shape. He has a most painful leg injury in the form of a "charley horse." Then, too, Billy Williams, whose father died in Texas during the week, hasn't practiced all week and may not play. Williams has come along just fine as a runner and kicker.

DUKE DANGEROUS TEAM

Duke, although beaten four times, is a very dangerous team. After all, in losing four times, Duke played Penn, North Carolina Preflight, Navy and Army. That's tough going in any league.

The Blue Devils have Tom Davis and Gordon Carver, two outstanding backs. The Blue Devils have a strong line and a variety of attack, including good passing. The Blue Devils defeated Tech on passes last year at Grant Field.

It may be that Tech's defense against passes is better, and it could be that Tech's passing attack is sharper. Duke may have a tough time stopping Tech's passing this time.

In any event, Tech is only a narrow favorite by virtue of coming up to the annual clash with the Blue Devils unbeaten. Tech had quite a tussle and was favored by the breaks in beating the Navy.

Since the Navy game, Tech has lost a great tackle, Bill Chambers, and an outstanding end in Jim Dorough. Duke also lost two regular linemen and several substitutes. Duke also has lost Alex Balitsariis, a tough fullback.

It's about even-Stephen in the matter of losses, since Mathews is really ailing.

ROUGH GOING AHEAD

A rough schedule is ahead for the Jackets. After Duke today, Tech takes on Tulane in Atlanta, L. S. U. at Baton Rouge and then the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame in Atlanta.

But Coach Alex isn't looking ahead. It's one at a time as far as the Old Man, veteran of 25 Tech campaigns, is concerned.

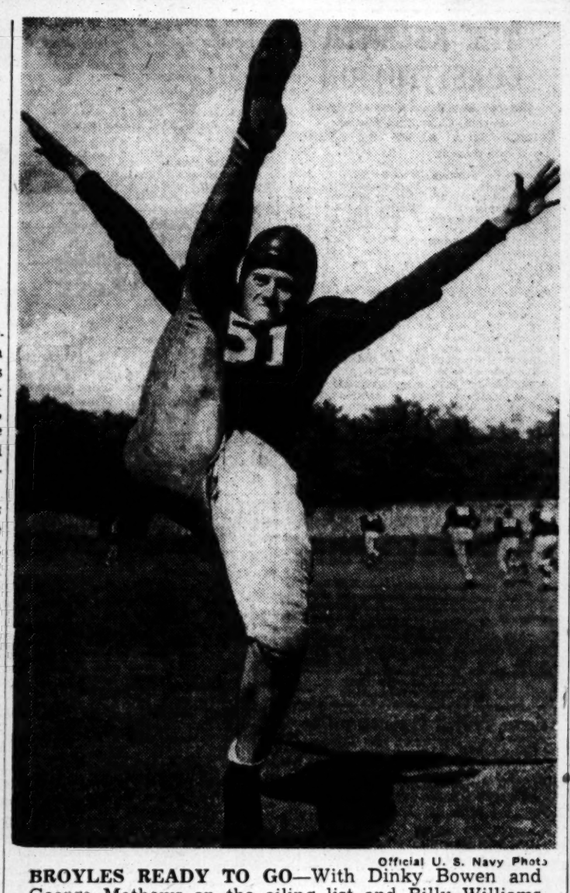

It's Duke tomorrow and Alex is none too happy over the prospect. He has experienced many a disastrous afternoon in the handsome stadium at Durham.

Tech probably will rely largely on a fancy aerial offensive in a supreme effort to maintain a perfect record.

Probable lineups:

GA. TECH	Pos.	DUKE
Murdock	LE	Jones
Glenn	LT	Irwin
Bowen	LG	Sink
Holtsinger	C	Crowder
Furchgott	RG	Knotts
Phillips	RT	Hardison
Tinsley (C)	RE	Harry
McIntosh	QB	Krisza
A. Bowen	RH	Clark
Mickey, Logan	LH	Carver
Broyles	FB	Davis

Kickoff time, 2 p. m. (Atlanta time).

Official U. S. Navy Photo

BROYLES READY TO GO—With Dinky Bowen and George Mathews on the ailing list and Billy Williams having missed practice all week due to the death of his father in Texas, the dependable Frank "Red" Broyles (above), of Decatur, will probably have to carry the big load for Georgia Tech this afternoon at Durham in the tilt against Duke. Broyles has been one of the steadiest performers for Coach Alex this year.

Decatur High Winner Over Griffin, 13 to 12

By RUSSELL MUSGRAVE.

Decatur's fighting Bulldogs barely skimmed by a surging Griffin Golden Wave to eke out a 13-to-12 decision last night on the former's home field.

Quick thinking on the part of Weber gave Decatur what proved the victory point after a bad pass from center spoiled what was to be an attempt to convert with a place kick. Weber snatched the sailing ball and ripped through the line to score the all important one point that gave the Bulldogs the game.

MILTON RUNS

In the first quarter Ben Milton took a Griffin punt from the Decatur 40 to the Griffin 9. Sunny Weber picked up six yards and Milton toted two more to the Wave one, from where Eddie Roberts sneaked over. It was then that Weber scored the extra vital point.

Although Griffin made five first downs to Decatur's two during the first half, they never got any closer to the Bulldogs' goal than the 37-yard line.

Toward the end of the third quarter, Griffin came roaring back into the ball game when George Murray intercepted a Decatur pass and raced 50 yards untouched for the marker. A line plunge failed to convert.

At the beginning of the fourth quarter Decatur took the ball on its own 40-yard line and staged a sustained march, highlighted by Sunny Weber's 16-yard gain, which netted them a second touchdown when Roberts pulled another quarterback sneak. The conversion attempt failed.

LONG PASS PLAY

With the game apparently in the bag and the clock ticking off the closing seconds and with Griffin backed up to its own 15-yard line, George Murray uncorked a pass which Franklin Green took on his own 40-yard line and scampered all the way for the Waves' second marker. Griffin tried a quarterback sneak for the extra point, but the Decatur line, which played sterling ball all night, stopped the play cold and averted a tie.

Sunny Weber, promoted to the backfield from his line position, was a standout on offense for Decatur, which his teammate, Rey, played brilliantly on defense.

George Murray sparked Griffin's offensive play, while Kenneth Hunt, the Wave's right tackle, acquitted himself nobly.

Decatur cleanly outplayed Griffin during the last half, racking up eight first downs to the visitors' one.

Dutch Leonard Turned Down Bribe Offer

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Emil (Dutch) Leonard, Washington Senators pitcher, said today he was offered a bribe by an unknown telephone caller early in the morning of October 1, the day the hurler knocked Detroit out of the American League pennant race with his final game triumph.

Leonard said, "I just hung up. I thought it was a joke."

Later he related the incident to Coach Clyde Milan of the Senators, because "after thinking it over, I got to feeling kind of funny about it."

The knuckle-baller, arriving here en route from New York to his home in Auburn, Ill., told a reporter:

"I got the telephone call in my hotel room. This fellow said, 'Hello, Leonard? You pitching today?'

"Then he said, 'It can get you 25 hundred or three thousand if you lose.'

"I told him off. He just laughed and said he had just called to wish me luck. I hung up.

"I thought it was some sort of a prank, but I decided I'd better tell somebody about it. So I told Milan."

While in New York Leonard made arrangements to go overseas with a group of major league baseball stars, he said.

West Fulton Edges College Park, 7-6

By JIMMY HOLLIS.

With all the scoring coming in the last quarter, the West Fulton Owls eked out a 7-6 decision over College Park last night on the Russell field.

College Park pushed over the first score in the third period when Thomas plunged over from the 3 after a 50-yard march. Bateman's attempted quarterback sneak for the extra point failed and this failure cost the Parkers a tie game.

In the fourth quarter, West Fulton marched 80 yards for the touchdown that tied the count, Crawford going the last 20 yards around right end. Smith plunged for the extra point that gave the Owls their win.

The Owls led in first downs, 10 to 7. Pinkston's passes to Thomas and Barber were outstanding for College Park, while Hitchcock and Burdette were the big noise for West Fulton.

Tide Picked To Defeat Bulldogs

25,000 To See Game At Birmingham's Legion Field

By F. M. WILLIAMS,
Constitution Staff Writer.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 3.—Southeastern conference football returns to this sports-mad town tomorrow afternoon, with two ancient rivals, Georgia and Alabama, clashing on Legion field before what looms as a capacity crowd of 25,000.

Coach Wallace Butts' Bulldogs are expected to take it on the chin for the third time this season, and most observers are picking them to lose by a lop-sided margin.

But the Georgians aren't counting themselves out of it yet, and are fully confident of hitting the victory trail again after losing to L. S. U. in Atlanta last week, 15 to 7.

TIDE AT FULL STRENGTH

The Crimson Tide of Frank Thomas will be at its full strength for this game. Lowell Tew, wingback who was leading the team's scoring before being hurt three weeks ago, is reported ready for action again and is listed as a starter, along with the pass-throwing Harry Gilmer, who many call the equal in the air to Dixie Howell, of Rose Bowl fame.

Gilmer, a Birmingham boy, has been designated as captain of the Tide for this game.

Georgia checked in this afternoon and went immediately to the scene of the game for a light workout. That is, all but three went to the field.

Coach Butts checked out for a doctor's office with three of his boys, two of whom would ordinarily start the game.

Al Perl, dangerous running back; Dan Edwards, hard-working end, and Gene Singletary, a reserve tackle, were escorted by the rotund Georgia coach to the office of a well-known bone specialist in the hope that the physician could help the boys enough to at least see some service.

HODGES CERTAIN STARTER

Perl has a pulled tendon in his heel and Edwards sprained his ankle during a light drill Thursday. Singletary has been out three weeks with a bad leg. Andy Perhach, regular tackle, is bruised up and isn't expected to play long, so it is vital that Singletary be able to participate in the game.

Coach Butts announced definitely he would start Billy Hodges, 160-pound Decatur boy, at quarterback, in an effort to get better signal calling.

Reid Moseley will be at left end in place of Sam Bailey for the only other change in the starting lineup this week over last. Edwards will start at the other end if able.

Probable lineups:

GEORGIA	Pos.	ALABAMA
Moseley	L.E.	Jones
Castronis	L.T.	Whitley
St. John	L.G.	Wozniak
Jackura	C	Mancha
Reid	R.G.	Green

Edwards	R.E.	McConville
Hodges	Q.B.	Morrow
Rutland	L.H.	Gilmer

Officials: Referee, Lynch (Holy Cross); umpire, Burghard (Mississippi College); Linesman, Phillips (Georgia Tech); judge, Bagley (W. & L.).

Chief Saunooke, Freeman Winners

Chief Osley Saunooke and Herbie Freeman emerged winners of the double main go events last night at the city auditorium, Saunooke disposing of Benny Bennicasa and Freeman winning when his opponent, Al Massey, was disqualified in a match that ended in a free-for-all involving the referee, the two seconds and the two wrestlers.

Bennicasa extended the Chief more than any of his opponents, except Champ Longson, and succumbed only after nine minutes, the Indian picking up his foe and slamming him against the ring post in his usual convincing manner.

Massey had all the better of the going against Freeman all the way, but resorted to choking, and when the referee, Bill Cruselle, attempted to break the hold, Massey's second, Tiny Oxford, interfered. The ref disqualified Massey and both the wrestler and his second jumped him. This brought Freeman and his second, Tiger Kirkland, into action and a merry time was had by all for a short time.

In the opener, Son Almand resorted to the hold made famous by Promoter Paul Jones, the hook scissors, to beat Wild Bill Collins. It was a genuine figure-four, the like of which hasn't been seen since Jones quit the squared circle. Jack Dillon won over Irish Jack Kelley in the other bout with a series of body slams.

Three Basketball Games Scheduled

The first basketball games of the season will be played at College Park tonight and the opening program includes a trio of games, the first starting at 7:30 p. m.

Two girls' games and one men's are scheduled with the opening tilt being between the newly organized College Park girls and Johnny Moon's Tomboys. The second game, bringing together the Lorelei Ladies and the LeTourneau girls from Toccoa, will start at 8:30. The final game of the night will find the strong College Park men pitted against the LeTourneau men.

The College Park team boasts a number of star players including Hamilton, the state's leading scorer last year, Art Tropin, Red McLaughlin, Waggoner, Kowalczyk, Darby, Watson, and Dickerson.

Tech High Romps To Win Over GMA

By CHARLIE ROBERTS.

Tech High made more passes than the college playboy at the junior prom as they took to the air last night at Ponce de Leon Park to humble G. M. A.'s battling Cadets, 40 to 0.

It was a strange sight indeed to see the Village Smithies, for many years noted for their ground power and lack of aerial fireworks, float through the air with the greatest of ease just like the famed man of the flying trapeze, and see them halted almost at every turn when they stuck to terra firma. The Smithies made 137 yards on passes alone in the first half.

SHARP PLAY

Allen Shi's Smithies were a sharp-striking eleven as they chalked up six touchdowns, five via the airways, and four extra points, thanks to the good right toe of Durwood Davis, to harass Lawrence Whalen's Cadets, who looked good themselves at times as they broke away for a number of long runs. But Smithie backs were far too fleet for the College Parkers who never managed to go all the way and seldom were able to catch Smithie pass receivers.

The Cadets actually racked up more first downs than did the winners. Ten to nine was the margin.

Jack Peek tallied three touchdowns all on passes, one being hurled by Ellsworth Long and two by Mack Couch. Durwood Davis scampered for two, one on a pass from Couch and another on a lefthanded toss from Peek. Couch, who pliayed perhaps the most brilliant game of them all, broke away for the only touchdown via terra firma. Three Smithie touchdowns in the first quarter sewed the game up early.

SEVERAL INTERCEPTIONS

The Smithies intercepted a number of GMA aerials with Peek, Lefty Bob Mitchell, Couch and Davis hawking the ball well. Willis Van Frank blocked one of Couch's punts and Bill Whitley fell on it for the Cadets at the Smithie one-yard line in the second quarter, but the Cadets couldn't push over a touchdown. Bill Howerton and Tommy Lee were outstanding in the Cadet backfield. Injured Pierce McWhorter came in to punt once for the Smithies and booted 54 yards to get the club out of a bad hole.

The first Smithie score came on the third scrimmage play of the game when Couch aerialed to Peek at the 30 on a play that covered 52 yards. After an exchange of punts Couch broke through the middle and ran 56 yards for another. A 64-yard march got the next one, with Couch flinging to Peek for the last 19 yards.

The second-quarter score came after Peek intercepted a pass at the Smithie 40. Long completed two passes for the tally, one going to Sidney Williams and the scoring pass to Peek, a 34-yard gain.

After a scoreless third period Davis recovered a GMA fumble at the Cadet 33, and two aerials from Couch to Leo Corley and Peek netted another score. Later Peek southpawed a short flip to Davis, who outraced the GMA secondary 72 yards to pay dirt.

Russell Downs Gainesville

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Nov. 3.—Russell High's Wildcats completely outclassed an undermanned Gainesville High eleven here tonight, 33 to 6, handing the Red Elephants their second loss of the season.

The Wildcat attack was sparked by Bowen, Pruitt and Bloodworth, who teamed to put over the five tallies for the visitors, with passes paving the way for all but one.

Gainesville fumbled on the second play, giving Russell the ball on the Elephont 20. Line smashes put the ball in scoring position, and Pruitt raced over standing up. Bowen converted. A lateral, Bowen to Pruitt to Bloodworth, which covered 38 yards, put the ball on the Gainesville 26 in the second quarter, and Bowen flipped one in the end zone for the marker. Bowen again converted.

Pruitt passed 46 yards to Bloodworth for the third score. Russell came back in the third to score twice, with the Bowen to Bloodworth passing combination accounting for one and a short run by Pruitt taking care of the other.

Gainesville's marker came on a lateral of the third period kickoff. Hanson to Williss, which was good for 75 yards and a touchdown. The point failed.

STOCK SALES

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Stocks shuffled over an irregular course in today's market and, while scattered rail and industrial specialties exhibited strength, many leaders were depressed by light profit cashing on the recent advance.

Spurring individual climbers were pleasing dividends and hopeful earnings prospects. Chicago & Northwestern common and preferred jumped two points each in response to yesterday's late $5 disbursements on both issues but ended up 1¾ and 1½, respectively. The former started on a 20,000-share block and was the day's liveliest performer.

The bond market was irregular today with moderate gains predominating in the rail division near the final hour.

Among curb advancers were Electric Bond & Share, Cities Service, American Gas, American Republics and Creole Petroleum. The last named was propped by a boosted dividend. Turnover here was 224,855 shares versus 240,650 the day before.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—(AP)—After moving slightly lower on hedge selling, the cotton market developed a steady tone today on mill buying and local covering. Reports from the south indicated that acute shortage of warehouse space in the cotton belt was becoming more critical and causing additional embargoes on shipments.

Producers sales of cotton to the government was also reported retarded by the developments.

CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Hog prices today dropped 10 cents below Thursday's average with the top at $14.15. The break followed yesterday's rally which recovered about 40 per cent of the losses early this week.

Heavyweights and sows also were off a dime, good and choice grades from $13.75 to $13.85. The 5,000 salable offerings were 2,000 below expectations and total supplies of 9,000 were smallest for a Friday in three weeks.

Lack of prime offerings in the cattle department held the top to $17.85, paid by eastern order buyers for choice steers and yearlings. Medium and good kinds found no takers and all other classes were steady to weak.

Cows formed the bulk of supplies, medium beef grades ranging from $7.50 to $10.50. Stockers quieted down after an active week and vealers were scarce.

The lamb trade was steady, good and choice grades selling from $14.25 to $14.40, the top. Five decks of Canada lambs weighing 72 pounds and grading common brought $10.50. Receipts included 6,500 directs.

Total supplies included 3,000 cattle and 10,500 sheep.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By ALICE DENTON JENNINGS.

March 21-April 19 (ARIES)—You will feel that you would prefer to sit down and brood over affairs, or you may be inclined to notice slights that are not intended, through the entire day. Therefore, unless you make a decided effort to appreciate the other fellow's side of any question, this will not be a successful day.

April 20-May 20 (TAURUS)—The entire day and until 6:50 p. m. favors ordinary and routine matters. This is especially true in connection with communications, correspondence and conferences. After 7:50 p. m. favors social and entertainment fields.

May 21-June 20 (GEMINI)—Before 7:18 p. m. you can follow your "hunches" or you should listen to an intuitive feeling within yourself, as to what to do. Your inspirations at this time can be worked out on a conservative basis.

June 21-July 23 (CANCER)—You are likely to have a feeling of morbidness or confusion, so you should be careful in expressing yourself to avoid misunderstandings. This is not an auspicious day for new and important undertakings.

July 23-Aug. 22 (LEO)—An excellent day to stick to routine. Previous to 8:48 p. m. and after 6 p. m. do not allow yourself to be coaxed into things that are against your better judgment.

Aug. 23-Sept. 22 (VIRGO)—It might be well to give business and social associates every consideration before 5:12 p. m. for you are apt to encounter a let-down feeling, or may meet with a coolness which may retard matters.

Sept. 23-Oct. 22 (LIBRA)—While new beginnings may have a tendency to run into obstacles if started previous to 12:28 p. m., old, practical ideas may be pushed to advantage. Before 6:04 p. m. favors matters pertaining to land and property.

Oct. 23-Nov. 21 (SCORPIO)—Before 8:53 a. m. and after 4:14 p. m. are the better parts of the day. Before 8:53 a. m. you may turn your attention to matters of a serious nature and to those things that have heavy responsibilities attached to them. After 4:14 p. m. conferences or agreements can be made with great rapidity.

Nov. 22-Dec. 21 (SAGITTARIUS)—The entire day through 7:45 p. m. should result most satisfactorily in almost any line of endeavor. After 7:45 p. m. favors ordinary business matters, but suggests caution in making sudden and unpremeditated moves.

Dec. 22-Jan. 19 (CAPRICORN)—The entire period previous to 1:43 p. m. favors buying and selling, trading and communications. After 1:43 p. m. favors pleasures, sociability, travel.

Jan. 20-Feb. 18 (AQUARIUS)—The better vibrations of the day operate between 8:53 a. m. and 4:14 p. m. An excellent period for undertaking new plans and carrying out old ideas. After 4:14 p. m. by being alone, or at least holding your feelings in check, more will be accomplished.

Feb. 19-March 20 (PISCES)—This will likely be a day of conflicting emotions, when you should avoid petty quarrels, unwise speculations. Use care around water, liquids and the suspicions of people who want you to go into secret affairs. An excellent day to be careful of your health.

Assignment Of 'Only Sons' Being Delayed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The War Department said today that delays are occurring in giving only surviving sons non-combat assignments because parents fail to give complete information in their applications for such assignments.

The armed forces recently adopted a policy of returning to or retaining in the United States the surviving son of a family which has lost two or more sons in battle, except where the remaining son is on non-hazardous duty overseas.

In urging that full information be given by the families, the department said all requests should be directed to the adjutant general, Washington. The request should include the names of the sons killed in service, thei Army or Navy serial numbers, the name and serial number of the surviving sons killed in service, their Army only surviving son.
